How to Use This Book

Welcome! This book helps kids and teens understand big feelings and learn calm, kind ways to handle them. Feelings are not good or bad - they are messengers. This book builds the skills to listen to them and choose what to do next.

Every page is printable and reproducible for your home or classroom. Go at the reader's pace, and celebrate effort more than 'right answers.'

For Grown-Ups

- ☐ Do the activities alongside the child when you can - your calm helps them feel safe.
- ☐ Name feelings out loud together; naming a feeling helps shrink it.
- ☐ Never punish a feeling. Coach the choice that comes after it.
- ☐ Revisit favorite pages often - skills grow with practice, not one-time reading.

Tip: There are no wrong answers here. Every feeling is okay. What matters is what we choose to DO with big feelings.

Grows With the Reader (Ages 5-17)

This book is built for a wide range of ages. Younger children can color, trace, and point to feelings faces. Older kids and teens can use the same pages for journaling, deeper reflection, and building real coping plans.

Younger (about 5-9)

- ☐ Color the feelings faces and calm-down pictures.
- ☐ Trace the calming words and short affirmations.
- ☐ Do the breathing shapes with a grown-up.

Older kids & teens (about 10-17)

- ☐ Write in the journal and reflection spaces.
- ☐ Work through the 'What would you do?' scenarios.
- ☐ Build and personalize your own coping toolkit and calm-down plan.

Dazzle the Feelings Dragon

Meet Dazzle! Dazzle is a young dragon who feels BIG feelings. When Dazzle gets angry, smoke puffs out. When Dazzle worries, the wings get shaky. Dazzle is learning to cool down those big feelings - and Dazzle will teach you how too!

Dazzle's Big Idea

Even a fire-breathing dragon can learn to calm down. If Dazzle can do it, so can you! Every time your feeling gets hot, you can cool it with a calm-down tool.

Part 1: Getting to Know Feelings

Every feeling has a name and a message.

Faces We Make

Color each face. Say the feeling out loud!

Happy

Sad

Angry

Worried

Calm

Excited

More Feelings We Have

Color each face. Say the feeling out loud!

Surprised

Nervous

Lonely

Proud

Relaxed

Frustrated

MATCH

Match the Feeling to What Helps

Draw a line from each feeling to one thing that can help.

● Angry

get a hug ●

● Worried

share the good news ●

● Sad

talk to someone ●

● Excited

take deep breaths ●

My Feelings Thermometer

A feelings thermometer shows how BIG a feeling is. Green is calm and okay. Yellow is starting to bubble. Red is a very big feeling. Knowing our level helps us pick the right calm-down tool.

RED - Big feeling

YELLOW - Getting bigger

GREEN - Calm & okay

What can I do at each level? Write above.

Where Do I Feel It?

Big feelings live in our bodies too. Anger might feel hot in your chest. Worry might feel like butterflies in your tummy. Color or mark where you feel your feelings.

Draw or color:

-  Hot / angry feelings
-  Fluttery / worried feelings
-  Heavy / sad feelings
-  Calm / good feelings

Today my body feels...

My Feelings Today

● A feeling I felt today was...

● It showed up in my body like this...

● What I did about it was...

Part 2: My Calm-Down Tools

Small tools for big feelings.

Square (Box) Breathing

Slow breathing tells our body it is safe. Trace the shape slowly with your finger while you breathe. Do it 3-5 times.

Box Breathing

1. Trace up one side as you breathe IN for 4.
2. Trace across the top as you HOLD for 4.
3. Trace down as you breathe OUT for 4.
4. Trace across the bottom as you HOLD for 4.
5. Repeat 3-5 times until you feel calmer.

Flower & Candle Breathing

Slow breathing tells our body it is safe. Trace the shape slowly with your finger while you breathe. Do it 3-5 times.

Flower Breathing

1. Pretend to smell a flower - breathe IN through your nose.
2. Pretend to cool soup or blow a candle - breathe OUT slowly through your mouth.
3. Trace each petal as you breathe.
4. Notice your shoulders drop as you relax.

Calm-Down Cards (Set 1)

These are calm-down tools. Try each one. Circle the ones that work best for YOU, then cut them out or copy them for your calm corner.

1 Deep Breaths

Slow belly breaths - in for 4, out for 6.

2 Count to 10

Count slowly and unclench your hands.

3 Cold Water

Splash your face or hold something cool.

4 Push the Wall

Press your hands on a wall for 10 seconds.

5 Name 5 Things

Name 5 things you can see right now.

6 Ask for a Break

Say: 'I need a minute to calm down.'

Calm-Down Cards (Set 2)

These are calm-down tools. Try each one. Circle the ones that work best for YOU, then cut them out or copy them for your calm corner.

1 Squeeze & Release

Tense muscles for 5, then let go.

2 Draw It Out

Draw or scribble how you feel.

3 Move Your Body

Stretch, jump, or take a walk.

4 Safe Person

Talk to someone you trust.

5 Calm Words

Say: 'This is hard, but it will pass.'

6 Calm Corner

Go to your calm spot for a reset.

Calming Words to Trace

Trace the calming words. Then say them out loud.

I am safe.

I can handle this.

This feeling will pass.

Now write your own calming words:

MATCH

Match the Tool to the Moment

Draw a line from each moment to a tool that can help.

● Feeling angry

talk to someone ●

● Feeling worried

get a hug or rest ●

● Feeling restless

move your body ●

● Feeling sad

take slow breaths ●

Trying Out My Tools

● A calm-down tool I want to try is...

● When I could use it is...

● How I hope it will help me...

Part 3: Making Calm Choices

Feelings happen to us - choices are up to us.

What Would You Do? (1)

Read each situation. There are many good choices! Think it through, then write or draw what you could do to stay calm and kind.

- 1 Dazzle's tower of blocks falls down. Dazzle feels like roaring.

What could you do?

- 2 A friend laughs at Dazzle's drawing. Dazzle feels hurt.

What could you do?

- 3 Dazzle has to wait a long time for a turn on the slide.

What could you do?

What Would You Do? (2)

Read each situation. There are many good choices! Think it through, then write or draw what you could do to stay calm and kind.

- 1 You feel angry because your game got turned off.

What could you do?

- 2 Someone budes in front of you in line.

What could you do?

- 3 You made a mistake on your homework and feel like giving up.

What could you do?

My Calm Choice Checklist

Before I react, I can check this list. Tick the ones you want to remember.

- ☐ I take a breath before I speak or act.
- ☐ I name what I'm feeling.
- ☐ I ask myself: will this help or hurt?
- ☐ I use a calm-down tool if the feeling is big.
- ☐ I ask for help if I need it.
- ☐ I try again - mistakes are okay.

A Time I Made a Calm Choice

- Describe a time you handled a big feeling well.

- What did you do? How did it turn out?

- What will you try next time?

Part 4: Calm & Reflect

Rest your mind and notice the good.

COLOR

When I feel calm, I can help others by...

How Far I've Come

Look how much you've learned! Tick everything you can do now (or are practicing).

- ☐ I can name my feelings.
- ☐ I can notice feelings in my body.
- ☐ I know my warning signs for big feelings.
- ☐ I have calm-down tools I can use.
- ☐ I can make calmer choices.
- ☐ I can ask for help when I need it.
- ☐ I can be kind to myself when things are hard.

My Personal Calm-Down Plan

This is YOUR plan for big feelings. Fill it in and keep it somewhere you'll see it. You can update it any time as you learn what helps.

When I notice a big feeling, my body signal is...

Three calm-down tools I will try first are...

A safe person I can talk to is...

Words I can say to myself are...

A calm place I can go is...

Good Things & Gratitude

Noticing good things helps calm our minds and lift our mood. It doesn't erase hard feelings, but it reminds us that good things are here too.

Three good things about today

Someone I'm thankful for - and why

Draw something that makes you smile:

A large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners and a thin grey border, intended for a drawing.

Letter to Myself

- Write a kind letter to yourself for a day you feel a big feeling.

- What do you want to remember?

- What would you tell a friend feeling the same way?

My Growing Skills

● One feeling I understand better now is...

● One thing I can do when it gets big is...

● I feel proud that I can...

Slowing Down My Mind

● When my mind feels busy, I can...

● A quiet thing I enjoy is...

● One slow, calm thing I will do today is...

COLOR
