

CALM & CONFIDENT SEL SERIES

When I Feel Angry

A Kids' Calm-Down Activity Pack for Understanding and Cooling Anger

Written by Daniel Tesfamariam

Ages 5-17 - Printable

Home - Classroom - Counseling - Calm Corners

Reproducible for one home or classroom

How to Use This Book

Welcome! This book helps kids and teens understand big feelings and learn calm, kind ways to handle them. Feelings are not good or bad - they are messengers. This book builds the skills to listen to them and choose what to do next.

Every page is printable and reproducible for your home or classroom. Go at the reader's pace, and celebrate effort more than 'right answers.'

For Grown-Ups

- ☐ Do the activities alongside the child when you can - your calm helps them feel safe.
- ☐ Name feelings out loud together; naming a feeling helps shrink it.
- ☐ Never punish a feeling. Coach the choice that comes after it.
- ☐ Revisit favorite pages often - skills grow with practice, not one-time reading.

Tip: There are no wrong answers here. Every feeling is okay. What matters is what we choose to DO with big feelings.

Grows With the Reader (Ages 5-17)

This book is built for a wide range of ages. Younger children can color, trace, and point to feelings faces. Older kids and teens can use the same pages for journaling, deeper reflection, and building real coping plans.

Younger (about 5-9)

- ☐ Color the feelings faces and calm-down pictures.
- ☐ Trace the calming words and short affirmations.
- ☐ Do the breathing shapes with a grown-up.

Older kids & teens (about 10-17)

- ☐ Write in the journal and reflection spaces.
- ☐ Work through the 'What would you do?' scenarios.
- ☐ Build and personalize your own coping toolkit and calm-down plan.

What's Inside

- 1 Understanding Anger
- 2 My Anger Signals
- 3 Cool-Down Tools
- 4 Making Calm Choices
- 5 Calm & Reflect
- 6 My Anger Plan
- 7 Gratitude

Part 1: Understanding Anger

Anger is normal - it's what we do with it that matters.

Anger Is a Normal Feeling

Everybody feels angry sometimes - even grown-ups. Anger often shows up when something feels unfair, when we're hurt, or when we don't get what we want. Anger isn't 'bad.' It's a signal. The goal isn't to never feel angry; it's to handle anger in ways that don't hurt ourselves or others.

Anger is like a volcano

Anger can build up slowly like a volcano. If we notice the early rumbles, we can cool down before we erupt. This book helps you spot your rumbles and cool them.

Faces of Anger & Calm

Color each face. Say the feeling out loud!

Angry

Frustrated

Annoyed

Calm

Peaceful

Relaxed

My Anger Warning Signs

Your body warns you before anger boils over. Circle or write the signs you notice.

- ☐ Hot face or ears
- ☐ Clenched fists or jaw
- ☐ Fast heartbeat
- ☐ Loud voice
- ☐ Tight tummy
- ☐ Wanting to hit, throw, or yell

My personal warning signs are...

My Anger Thermometer

A feelings thermometer shows how BIG a feeling is. Green is calm and okay. Yellow is starting to bubble. Red is a very big feeling. Knowing our level helps us pick the right calm-down tool.

RED - Big feeling

YELLOW - Getting bigger

GREEN - Calm & okay

What can I do at each level? Write above.

Where Do I Feel It?

Big feelings live in our bodies too. Anger might feel hot in your chest. Worry might feel like butterflies in your tummy. Color or mark where you feel your feelings.

Draw or color:

-  Hot / angry feelings
-  Fluttery / worried feelings
-  Heavy / sad feelings
-  Calm / good feelings

Today my body feels...

Part 2: Cool-Down Tools

Cool the heat before you act.

Square (Box) Breathing

Slow breathing tells our body it is safe. Trace the shape slowly with your finger while you breathe. Do it 3-5 times.

Box Breathing

1. Trace up one side as you breathe IN for 4.
2. Trace across the top as you HOLD for 4.
3. Trace down as you breathe OUT for 4.
4. Trace across the bottom as you HOLD for 4.
5. Repeat 3-5 times until you feel calmer.

Triangle Breathing

Slow breathing tells our body it is safe. Trace the shape slowly with your finger while you breathe. Do it 3-5 times.

Triangle Breathing

1. Breathe IN as you trace the first side (count 3).
2. HOLD as you trace the second side (count 3).
3. Breathe OUT as you trace the last side (count 3).
4. Go around the triangle slowly 4 times.

Anger Cool-Down Cards

These are calm-down tools. Try each one. Circle the ones that work best for YOU, then cut them out or copy them for your calm corner.

1 Stop & Breathe

Freeze, then take 3 slow breaths.

2 Walk Away

Leave the situation to cool off safely.

3 Push or Squeeze

Push a wall or squeeze a pillow.

4 Count Backwards

Count down from 10 slowly.

5 Use Words

Say 'I feel angry because...'

6 Cool Water

Get a drink or splash cool water.

Cool-Down Words

Trace the calming words. Then say them out loud.

I can cool down.

I am the boss of my body.

I can use my words.

Now write your own calming words:

Part 3: Making Calm Choices

Feelings happen to us - choices are up to us.

What Would You Do? (1)

Read each situation. There are many good choices! Think it through, then write or draw what you could do to stay calm and kind.

1 Your sibling breaks something of yours on purpose.

What could you do?

2 You get blamed for something you didn't do.

What could you do?

3 You lose a game and want to flip the board.

What could you do?

What Would You Do? (2)

Read each situation. There are many good choices! Think it through, then write or draw what you could do to stay calm and kind.

- 1 Someone says something mean about you online.

What could you do?

- 2 A teacher gives you a rule that feels unfair.

What could you do?

- 3 Your plans get cancelled at the last minute.

What could you do?

My Calm Choice Checklist

Before I react, I can check this list. Tick the ones you want to remember.

- ☐ I take a breath before I speak or act.
- ☐ I name what I'm feeling.
- ☐ I ask myself: will this help or hurt?
- ☐ I use a calm-down tool if the feeling is big.
- ☐ I ask for help if I need it.
- ☐ I try again - mistakes are okay.

A Time I Made a Calm Choice

- Describe a time you handled a big feeling well.

- What did you do? How did it turn out?

- What will you try next time?

Part 4: Calm & Reflect

Rest your mind and notice the good.

COLOR

Cool Blue Ocean

Cool, calm waves to soothe the heat

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

COLOR

Quiet Mountains

A calm, cool mountain view

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

COLOR

Peaceful Garden

A gentle garden to relax in

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

My Calm Place

- Describe or draw a place where you feel calm.

- What do you see, hear, and feel there?

Draw your calm place:

A large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners and a thin grey border, intended for a drawing.

Part 5: My Practice Week

Practice makes calm feel natural.

Monday & Tuesday

Monday

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

Tuesday

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

Wednesday & Thursday

Wednesday

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

Thursday

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

Friday & Weekend

Friday

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

Weekend

good

calm

worried

sad

angry

One thing that helped me today:

My Practice Week Review

● Which calm-down tool did I use the most?

● Which tool worked best for me?

● What do I want to keep practicing next week?

My Top Calm-Down Tools

Out of everything you tried, which tools help YOU most? Write your personal top tools so you remember them when a big feeling shows up.

1

2

3

4

5

When I feel calm, I can help others by...

How Far I've Come

Look how much you've learned! Tick everything you can do now (or are practicing).

- ☐ I can name my feelings.
- ☐ I can notice feelings in my body.
- ☐ I know my warning signs for big feelings.
- ☐ I have calm-down tools I can use.
- ☐ I can make calmer choices.
- ☐ I can ask for help when I need it.
- ☐ I can be kind to myself when things are hard.

My Personal Calm-Down Plan

This is YOUR plan for big feelings. Fill it in and keep it somewhere you'll see it. You can update it any time as you learn what helps.

When I notice a big feeling, my body signal is...

Three calm-down tools I will try first are...

A safe person I can talk to is...

Words I can say to myself are...

A calm place I can go is...

Good Things & Gratitude

Noticing good things helps calm our minds and lift our mood. It doesn't erase hard feelings, but it reminds us that good things are here too.

Three good things about today

Someone I'm thankful for - and why

Draw something that makes you smile:

A large, empty rectangular box with rounded corners and a thin grey border, intended for a drawing.

Letter to Myself

- Write a kind letter to yourself for a day you feel a big feeling.

- What do you want to remember?

- What would you tell a friend feeling the same way?

My Growing Skills

● One feeling I understand better now is...

● One thing I can do when it gets big is...

● I feel proud that I can...

Slowing Down My Mind

● When my mind feels busy, I can...

● A quiet thing I enjoy is...

● One slow, calm thing I will do today is...

COLOR

Starry Night

A peaceful, starry sky to unwind under

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

COLOR

Flower Garden

A calm garden bursting with flowers

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

COLOR

Cozy Corner

A safe, comfy place to rest

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

COLOR

Calm Beach

Gentle waves on a quiet shore

Color it in with calm colors that feel good to you.

My Notes & Doodles

A series of horizontal lines for writing notes, spanning the width of the page below the header.

My Notes & Doodles

Lined area for notes and doodles, consisting of 20 horizontal lines.

My Notes & Doodles

Lined area for notes and doodles, consisting of 20 horizontal lines.

My Notes & Doodles

A series of horizontal lines for writing notes, spanning the width of the page.

My Notes & Doodles

A series of horizontal lines for writing notes, spanning the width of the page below the header.